IRISH POSITION TENSE.

BELFAST STREET FIGHTING.

TEN PERSONS KILLED.

TROOP SAILINGS SUSPENDED.

LONDON, February 13.
Sailings of troops from Dublin were unexpectedly suspended today it is believed in connection with events in North Ireland. Sniping and street fighting have occurred in Belfast where four persons were killed and three are dying. The others have been taken to hospital.

LONDON, February 13.
The military headquarters at Bantry yesterday evening cancelled the departure of troops.

LATER.
Four more people have been killed as the result of shooting in Belfast streets to-day.

LONDON, February 14.
Three bombs were thrown in Belfast causing eight-teen casualties among children, two of whom are dead and three are dying. The others have been taken to hospital.

COLLINS GOING TO LONDON.

LONDON, February 14.
A tense position has arisen by the suspension of evacuation of British troops which was only communicated to Michael Collins late yesterday evening by the Dublin representatives of the British Government. Mr.
Collins has decided to come to London immediately to ascertain the reason.

The turbulent state in Belfast yesterday was revealed by a tragic list showing ten persons killed and 50 wounded.

PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT'S SINCERITY.

In the House of Commons, replying to Captain
Charles Craig (Unionist member for Antrim South),
Mr. Winston Churchill said the Irish Provisional Government had assured him it was doing its utmost to secure liberation of prisoners taken in the recent kidnapping raid. He believed this was their sincere intention but the extent of their powers was at present much more doubtful. The incident at Clones had greatly aggravated the situation. The Government had sent a very strong telegram to the Provisional Government requesting them to do their utmost to prevent a repetition of such shocking events, and had also made a very strong appeal to Sir James Craig to take effective measures to prevent anything in the nature of retaliation or irregular action and he had no doubt this would be done.

A MEETING MOST DESIRABLE.

The Provisional Government had expressed a desire to meet the heads of the two governments, but hitherto it had proved impossible to arrange such a meeting which was very desirable in order that peace might be restored on the Ulster border as until the Southern Government was equipped with proper constitutional powers and properly in the saddle it could not be expected to have the necessary control over its agents and forces. The question of the use of troops in South Ireland was very serious and might easily greatly worsen the situation.

GANDHI'S CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE.

WHY THE CAMPAIGN HAS BEEN STOPPED.

COUNTRY'S ATMOSPHERE TOO VIOLENT.

LONDON, February 14.
According to a Bardolme message the decision to suspend the civil disobedience campaign was taken at a meeting of Gandhi with the National Congress committee which passed a resolution deploring the mob's inhuman conduct at Chauri Chaura on February 8 and declaring the country's atmosphere was not sufficiently non-violent for mass civil disobedience which would be suspended until non repetition of the atrocities at Gorakhpur and hooliganism in Bombay on December 17 and Madras on January 13 can be assured.

A further resolution urged the Congress organizations to cease courting arrest and imprisonment, also protesting and advising stoppage of processions and public meetings in defiance of the prohibition order.
Finally it urged enlistment of 10,000,000 supporters of the National Congress and a more conscientious observance of the Congress creed.

The resolution is only effective after confirmation by the All-India Congress committee.

including gold $27,000,000, and silver $5,000,000. The 000 and silver $1,000,000.

SIDE-TRACKING THE GENOA CONFERENCE.

FRANCE'S LATEST MOVES.

NEW POLICY TOWARDS RUSSIA COMING?

LONDON, February 13.
Though it is announced in London that no decision has yet been taken regarding the proposed postponement of the Genoa conference, the heartiness with which the French semi-official press to day welcomes the British proposal of a preliminary meeting of experts inspires the fear in London that the French Government will suggest so many technical questions for discussion that the meeting of experts may last for months.

French efforts to side-track the Genoa conference have been accompanied recently by a curious campaign in favour of friendly relations between France and Bolshevik Russia, a section of the Paris press featuring interviews with prominent Bolsheviks, dwelling on the immense wealth of Russia, and suggesting relief of the Russians' economic situation. As the Genoa conference is regarded in Paris as essentially a conference about Russia this pro-Bolshevik press campaign is significant as possibly foreshadowing a new French policy towards Russia.

HAVAS NEWS.

PARIS, February 12.
The British Cabinet has not yet answered M. Poin-care's memorandum. The Foreign Office is now preparing a preparatory meeting of British, French and Italian experts who would examine technical questions and present their report to the Genoa conference. French circles favour previous technical deliberation taking place, preferably in Paris, but they would want all the Allies and the little Entente present. The French Foreign Office is studying the agenda of the Genoa conference. It has decided upon the creation of two organisations, the first including Foreign Office officials and the second Treasury and Trade Office representatives, also the French section of the League of Nations and great economical and financial organizations.

RAND MINES DISPUTE.

POSITION MORE PROMISING.

JOHANNESBURG, February 13.
Work has restarted on the goldfield but it is only a tiny resumption, a thousand natives working underground at Village Deep on forty stamps going to Durban Deep. However, the position is regarded as promising.
Forty strikers have resumed at the East Rand mine and a few at the Village Deep, City Deep, and Crown mines.
The police have arrested pickets at Village Deep, otherwise all is quiet. Up to the present there has been no resumption on the Far East Rand. The crux of the position is the attitude of the engine drivers who are meeting this afternoon. It is expected that a number will resume to-morrow.

UNITED STATES NAVY.

PROPOSED $70,000,000 SAVING.

WASHINGTON, February 13.

The Navy Secretary, speaking to the naval committee of the House of Representatives, recommended the fixing of naval personnel in the coming fiscal year at 90,000 men and 6,000 apprentices, compared with 100,000 men and 6,000 respectively at present. He advised that a hundred destroyers be taken out of commission. He estimated that this programme would save $70,000,000 a year.

BIG COTTON MIL STRIKE.

LESS PAY AND MORE WORK.

Boston, February 13.
About 40,000 employees in the New England cotton mills have struck as a protest against reduction of wages by 20 per cent. and in some mills an increase in the working week from 48 to 54 hours. There have been no disorders.

BUSINESS NOTICES

Fine Neckwear is an Economy

A Tie for which you pay a small price is not necessarily cheap in value received. It may bear the undesirable look of cheapness when you wear it.

A good Tie, while it may cost more, will be altogether more pleasing in service—and it will always look what it is.

Such a conspicuous part of your attire suggests the wisdom of selecting a quality that complements both your taste and your knowledge of values.

THE HAUNTED CUE.

The tale is told in more than one way, and the variations are characteristic of all such tales. The evidence is "strengthened" by additions in order to make sure of "conviction." This particular billiard cue that Hongkong has been talking of has been credited (in one version) with no less than six successive owners, who have all untimely died. The number grows less when strict enquiry is made, but there still remains enough to lead men who know they ought to laugh about it to remark that "anyway it's queer." Perhaps the best illustration of the hold that superstition has may be found in this incident. Two men were discussing the story, and both were affecting intellectual superiority over those who have taken it seriously. Both agreed that superstition dies hard, and then one told of a Government motorcar that is "unlucky." It gave trouble when it was being landed. With a different driver each time it has had a long series of extraordinary accidents. The suggestion that a "stiff" engine must inevitably lead to accidents, just as a "stuck" driver sooner or later makes a man fall backwards, was refuted. It was a good engine, encoiled started. He capped it with a story of a horse that was "hoodooed." So for him, we suppose, the cue story is, not to be laughed away. Let us regard it more particularly, and more respectfully, than yesterday's Morning Post did. Our contemporary explained it as "mere coincidence." The idea that "coincidence" is an explanation is itself a superstition. Remarkable facts are not made less remarkable by being ascribed to coincidence. It is the coincidence that calls for explanation in the case of this cue. Its ownership is traced back to a Mr. Lydon, who committed suicide. The billiard room boy at the club is regarded for the purposes of the story, as the de facto owner for a time. He is said to have jumped off a Canton steamer, and so died. A Mr. Dick did not own it, but "probably used it a time or two." He died. The cue became the property of Mr. Joan Gardner. He died. By this time the implement had a reputation. Mr. Fawceter Mason, who claimed not to be superstitious, became the recognized owner. He died untimely. While he was lying in hospital, he said to a visiting friend: "Look here, I'm not superstitious, but I've been thinking about that beastly cue. Do you mind taking it and having it destroyed?" The friend promised this service, and doubtless made his mind easier by so doing. He kept his promise, and actually saw the thing smashed into three pieces by one of the billiard room servants. But it did not save poor Mason. One "theory" is that this "cue" must have been made with wood got from some tree on which some man had hanged himself. People who entertain such "theories" are not impressed with the causes of the various deaths are enumerated. They were not all suicides. Cancer accounted for one, pneumonia for another, and so on. "What has that got to do with it?" they say. "There must have been an evil spirit in the thing." And they conclude triumphantly, "there are more things in heaven and earth." That bit of Shakespeare is easily overlooked.

It will be seen that no real attempt has been made to analyse the story at all. For anything we know to the contrary, the billiardroom boy may still be alive. During the period of these deaths, there were other deaths some quite as tragic, with which ownership of the cue is not connected. We do not regard the numerical method very seriously, but if it is remarkable that five consecutive owners of the cue have died, it is equally remarkable that five people who had nothing at all to do with it have also died. The numerical method would consider the ten cases, and conclude that the evidence was evenly balanced for and against, or neutral. Bacon's Novum Organum was the inductive method that starts from the axiom that things which are always present, absent, or varying together, are causally connected. It has been misapplied here. Ownership of the fatal cue has been regarded as "always present," whereas it was present only in four or five of a much larger number of cases, the balance of which are disregarded.

But now let us observe that it is not necessary to prove that the cue had nothing to do with the deaths of its successive owners, in order to squash the superstitious foolishness of those who believe that it had. Assume that the ownership of all five is established, it is quite reasonable to suspect a causal connection. We are far from intending to suggest that our natural explanation covers all the five cases; but it could have done. Had they all been strangers to us, and the circumstances of their deaths unknown, we could have argued in this way. Very probably a causal connection is indicated. Men who own private billiard cues are probably excessively addicted to the game. Excessive addiction to the game often means other excesses such as drink. It means late hours in bad atmosphere. It means, in short, an unwholesome mode of life, which increases the chance of sickness and of death. Coincidental effects must have coincidental causes, or at least analogous antecedents. It is foolish to advance superstitious "explanations" that in any case never explain anything, not even themselves. The data (the facts) must first be verified, and all unverifiable "evidence" ruled out. Verifiable evidence must not be ignored, as in this case were ignored the deaths of people who did not own or handle the remarkable cue. Here the uniformity of sequence and its supposed correlations was only got by deliberately excluding instances which did not fit the extraordinary theory. It is a fallacy, instead of a billiard cue, we were to try to prove that membership of the Hongkong Club is mysteriously fatal, by ignoring the deaths of non-members. We haven't the least doubt that a considerable number of Club members who are still alive and hearty have used that very cue. If so, we hope they may not remember it at a time or two. He died. The cue became the property of Mr. Joan Gardner. He died. By this time the implement had a reputation. Mr. Fawceter Mason, who claimed not to be superstitious, became the recognized owner. He died untimely. While he was lying in hospital, he said to a visiting friend: "Look here, I'm not superstitious, but I've been thinking about that beastly cue. Do you mind taking it and having it destroyed?" The friend promised this service, and doubtless made his mind easier by so doing. He kept his promise, and actually saw the thing smashed into three pieces by one of the billiard room servants. But it did not save poor Mason. One "theory" is that this "cue" must have been made with wood got from some tree on which some man had hanged himself. People who entertain such "theories" are not impressed with the causes of the various deaths are enumerated. They were not all suicides. Cancer accounted for one, pneumonia for another, and so on. "What has that got to do with it?" they say. "There must have been an evil spirit in the thing." And they conclude triumphantly, "there are more things in heaven and earth." That bit of Shakespeare is easily overlooked.

Conference which is an arrangement for the establishment of a joint service to the Far East in which both German and English companies will place their own vessels. The Hamburg America and North German Lloyd are the German companies and the contracting party on the English side is the Bucknall Steamship Company. The "Havelland" has now inaugurated the service and soon there are to be nine boats on the run—presumably three for each company. British shipping will have to look to its laurels now or the passing of another eight years may see Germany forging ahead again.

World's Banker.

The Home Government's intention announced among recent cables to "establish again an unrestricted market for gold in London as early as possible" is one that would have joined those paving the road to still worse financial depression had it been denied effect much longer, for it was the imperial capital's ability before the war to meet all demands in gold without limit or question that made it the world's clearing house. Paris, essentially cautious reserved the right to convert into gold or silver at its own option. Berlin boasting a gold standard, was nevertheless too engrossed in promoting the industry of the country to tackle this important aspect of international banking. New York, following the collapse of the American system in 1907, never felt able to guarantee a certainty, or even a chance, of obtaining gold. London was the only centre where gold could be secured cheaply, easily, and without question. Then came the war and with it the gold embargo. While this restriction remained, London could not hope to keep its ascendancy, especially with New York, its nearest rival, alive to the opportunity. With the prospect of freedom once more, London may confidently expect to become again the world's banker.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 14.

The Medaille Reconnaisance Francaise has been presented by M. H. Widen, French Consul General to Mr. H. G. Simon, chairman of the Shanghai Club during the war as a mark of appreciation by the French Government for his splendid service. The presentation in the Club was largely attended, those present including Sir Everard Fraser, the British Consul General, Judge Skinner Turner, and Mr. H. H. Fox British Commercial Attaché, M. M. Szeeman and H. Madier, members of the French Council.

SHANGHAI DOCK EMPLOYEES DEATH.

A man named Bowden has been found dead in the Palace Hotel from natural causes. He was employed by the Shanghai Dock Company.

$1,000 ARMS FINE.

80 YEAR OLD BOATMAN
CHARGED

An elderly boatman was charged before Magistrate Wood this morning with the unlawful possession of one revolver, 7,700 rounds of ammunition and 18 ammunition clips.

Mr. F. G. Vaux, for the defence, said that while his client admitted being the licensee of the junk, under the sleeping boards of which the contraband was found, he was ignorant of its presence on board. The defendant was over 80 years of age and was unable to take an active part in the affairs of the junk. The contraband was probably smuggled on board by some of his folk.

Sub-Inspector Bond said that he discovered the arms and ammunition underneath the bed boards of the defendant and his wife who were asleep when he came aboard. It was carefully packed in sacking. When questioned, the defendant told him that he did not know to whom the contraband belonged.

Mr. Vaux asked that consideration be given to the age of defendant who was not keen of hearing, can hardly see and was unable to walk.

In imposing a fine of $1,000, or in default six months' hard labour, the Magistrate said that he had no doubt the defendant knew a lot about the case. He had not given all the information to the police, and therefore he could not expect any leniency. He would have received some consideration if he had assisted the police. The ammunition was a large quantity to have on board a fishing junk.

ESCAPE ATTEMPT FAILS.

TWELVE MONTHS' JAIL.

The master of another fishing boat was then charged with the unlawful possession of 7 rifles, 1 Mauser pistol, 2 revolvers, 6,909 rounds of ammunition, 10 cleaning rods and 8 magazines.

Mr. Vaux also appeared for this man. Sub-Inspector Bond said that this case was similar to the previous one. The junks were lying side by side. When the witness went on board this junk, the defendant tried to escape, but was prevented. In this case also, the contraband was found under the bed boards.

Mr. Vaux said that although the defendant was the licensee of the junk, he worked as a seaman on a lighter. Owing to the strike, he had no work to do and returned to the junk. On the evening in question he agreed to take charge of the junk and let the rest of the family go ashore.

The Magistrate (to defendant): In your case the Inspector came on your junk and found a large quantity of arms. There is no excuse for you like there was in the case of the old man. Twelve months' hard labour. The arms are confiscated.

FIVE ARMED MEN.

RIFLE THREE SAFES IN A TAWNSHOP.

Five men armed with revolvers and daggers visited the Yau Tai pawnshop in Yau-mat and demanded admittance. Under instructions from a fok who absconded immediately they were admitted, the cook-boy opened the door. The robbers drove the inmates into the kitchen, and having bound and gagged them all, rifled three safes, stealing a large quantity of jewellery.

IN THE SOCIAL SWIM.

I was quite interested to see the leaderette on Tuesday about the local A.D.C. One of my friends came back from "somewhere in France" soon after the Armistice. He is very keen on amateur theatricals, and he applied to all and sundry to see if there was an A.D.C. he could join. At the time they were all living on the reputation of "Kismet," (which I must admit was most beautifully staged by Mr. Sinclair), and did not seem inclined to try anything else. Eventually Lord Dunsany's plays were advertised, and as he heard none were wanted, my friend being very keen, wrote in and asked if he might have a small part. His letter was never even answered. It did not matter very much, as he was transferred up North before the plays were produced, but it seems to be rather typical of the Hongkong A.D.C. I see Mr. Dezman Fuller has returned from leave. I hope he will give us some more of those most enjoyable Organ recitals at the Cathedral. I hear Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Sim have returned, and are back in the old house in Lugard Road, so Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Bird have had to go out to Repulse Bay and their new house is ready. Miss Bowden Smith has also arrived in the Colony, a sister, I understand, of the Commodore, on her way up to Peking.

On Monday, I think it was Monday, I went to "Pygmalion," which I had never seen before, mainly, I fear, to hear how the famous adjectives (which, I believe, shocked London in those pre-war days) sounded on the stage. When you have been doing war work the adjectives in question sound rather more as a tender recollection of old times, than shock. I enjoyed the play. I always like hearing Bernard Shaw preaching and everyone here now knows the Warwick Company, so I need say nothing about the acting. Anyway I want nothing better in the East.

On Tuesday took place the second Centipede dance, which was as cheery as ever. The Centipedes certainly make ideal hosts, but it is a little embarrassing, never knowing who your actual host is. I thought I knew who had asked me on Tuesday, and when—in my blundering way—I wanted to thank him, he became very sad, and said it was nothing to do with him. Of course, I know the reason and a very good one too, why all invitations are kept, or anyway are supposed to be kept absolutely secret, but it is rather difficult for the "mere woman" who would like to thank her host, and incidentally make some effort, to return his hospitality.

There are something like thirty-four entries for the "Taggart Challenge Cup" for ladies at Fanning, which starts on February 16. Mrs. Drow won the Captain's Cup, beating Mrs. Fitzroy Williams in the final. I am not a golfer—in fact I hate the game, but if I am not wrong—she won it last year too, but perhaps it was something else. I know she won some championships.

I was very sorry to hear of the death of Mr. Sharp, which took place at the Peak Hospital early on Thursday morning. He had been ailing for some time, and when he was given a degree at the Hongkong University, his speech had to be read for him by Dr. Teasdale Mackintosh. He was a very popular member of society, as was shown by the large numbers who attended his funeral, and the quantity of wreaths sent. Much sympathy will be felt with his widow and children, who are at home. I think he was the nephew of the one time resident in the Colony, to whose generosity we owe the Matilda Hospital, erected in memory of his wife. In consequence of Mr. Sharp's death, Mrs. Claud Severn's dance fixed for the 9th was cancelled.

I also have to record with much regret the death of Mr. Farebrother Mason, which took place at the French Hospital on Friday evening. He had been ailing for some time suffering from his heart, and eventually went into hospital on New Year's Eve. His condition was very grave from the first, and though he made a very gallant fight for life, he passed away as stated on Friday evening. He had been ten years in the colony and was very popular amongst a large circle of friends. At the beginning of the war he joined the Police Reserves, but soon went to the front where he got a Commission and was awarded the M.C. The funeral which took place on Saturday afternoon was well attended, and there were a large number of wreaths. The Roman Catholic Bishop, Dr. Pozzoni, performed the ceremony, and amongst those present were Sir William Rees Davies, Mr. Gompertz, Mr. Kemp, Mr. Nisbet and a very large number of personal friends. Luckily the weather, which had been very threatening all the day cleared up a bit at the time of the funeral.

There were a large number of guests, about nine hundred, I believe, for the annual Engineers' Ball on Friday, always a most popular function.

FANCY DRESS DANCE.

"THE ONLY GROWN-UP PATH TO THE LAND OF FAERY."

"The only grown-up path to the land of faery." This is how the fancy dress dance has been described by a writer who believes that to be really happy at a fancy dress dance one must don the character with the dress, though within limits, of course, for she would not have made acquaintances going as Mephistopheles and behaving as such. The enchantment of putting on another personality it is romance, magic, joy. As this thoughtful observer notes, such however depends on the way the dance is managed. A very enjoyable evening is promised at the Kowloon Theatre to night, therefore, since the management has apparently overlooked nothing that will contribute to the success of the special fancy dress dance it has organised in place of the usual Tuesday cabaret farce. Prizes are promised for the best costumes. Special attention has been paid to musical and lighting effects. The floor is one of the best in the Colony.

"MALE AND FEMALE"

BARRIE FILM SHOWING THIS EVENING

Many people confident of a pleasant evening's entertainment yesterday silently cursed the strike when they learned that owing to the dislocation of the mail service in consequence of the shipping dispute it had become impossible at the last moment to screen the Gaumont Theatre's big feature attraction, "Male and Female." Arctur's brilliant film version of Sir James Barrie's great drama, "The Admirable Crichton." However, there is now no prospect of further mischance and this picture so eagerly awaited will be screened at the popular little cinema this evening without fail. With anticipation only whetted by this delay, the demand for seats promises to assume even greater proportions.

OIL FIRED TUG BOATS.

SUCCESSFUL OFFICIAL TRIALS

Messrs. W. S. Bailey and Co., Ltd., have completed for the Anglo-Saxon Petroleum Co., Ltd., Singapore, the second of two sea-going tug boats. The vessels are named respectively "Dragon and Lion." The second vessel on her official trial made an average speed of 10.27 knots on four runs over the measured course in Kowloon Bay, being 72 knots over the contract speed. The vessels, built of steel are 70 feet in length and are fitted with compound surface condensing engines of 200 horse power with the Smith Meyer Pressure System of oil burning in the furnaces. The machinery and boiler ran perfectly. There were on board during the trial Messrs. Hoos, Vallenga and Tully representing the Owners and Messrs. Wittich, Swan and Bailey for the builders.

Mr. Reid was the President. Over the entrance there was a large gilt propeller and two beacon lights. The hall had been beautifully decorated with palms and flowers, while at the head of the stairs was the crest of the Institution, a phoenix rising from the flames of a funeral pyre. On one side was the model of the first steamboat, built, I think, in 1801, and on the other a model of a Hongkong tramcar, which was built last year. Amongst those present, I noticed His Excellency and Lady Stubbs, Sir John and Lady Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Severn, Mrs. Pollock, Mrs. Gompertz, and Mrs. Dyer. There were twenty-one items on the programme and two extras, the music being supplied by the Hongkong Hotel Band. There was an excellent supper after the seventh dance, which as usual was served in the Theatre. After the first extra, the proceedings were opened by the State Lancers. Altogether a most successful and enjoyable evening.

The latest Hongkong problem:— "What should Mrs. 'A' do, when she has issued quite a lot of invitations to a private dance, and a certain number of people, whom she does not know, and certainly never asked, quite calmly write and accept with many thanks etc. You may not believe me, but that is what happened in Hongkong quite recently.

May I convey my respectful condolences to Lady May on the death of her husband? Those of us who know her will, I am sure, join with me in sending our hearty sympathy.

GOVERNMENT EXTRA VAGANCE.

ASQUITH'S CENSURE.

ADDRESS AMENDMENT REJECTED.

LONDON, February 14.

The House of Commons has rejected by 241 to 92 votes Mr. Asquith's amendment to the Address regretting the extravagance the government had imposed on the pressing burden of taxation. He declared that the Geddes report abundantly justified the charges contained in the amendment. The Chancellor, Sir Robert Horne, repudiated the charges of extravagance. He said the expenditure had been reduced since the armistice by 2,060 millions. It was obvious the Geddes' recommendations could not be accepted in their entirety and when the estimates were presented it would be seen that drastic cuts had been made.

ADMIRALTY MEMORANDUM.

LONDON, February 13.

In the House of Commons, Mr. Austen Chamberlain said that the Admiralty memorandum on the Geddes report had been issued in pursuance of the general decision of the Government which thought it desirable that the House should have this information in addition to the Geddes report. He had ordered the memorandum to be circulated as a parliamentary paper and foreshadowed publication of similar memoranda by other departments.

FRENCH BANK SALVAGE.

FRANCE'S FLIGHTED WORD.

LIABILITIES 900 MILLION FRANCES.

PARIS, February 13.

Before the Senate Finance Commission, M. Poincare, dealing with the bill for re-floating the Banque Industrielle de Chine recalled the reasons leading him to support his predecessor's measure in the Chamber of Deputies.

M. Jeanneret, the Reporter, declared that the Government considered it France's right and duty as much to herself as to her nationals and clients in the Far East to keep the word which was given in her name and it was necessary as far as possible to repay deposits.

With a reservation that Judicial action be vigorously pursued against the Bank's former administrators, the committee showed a strong majority in favour of adoption of the bill. In the course of the discussion it was established that the bank's liabilities amounted to 900 million francs instead of 300 million as previously indicated.

Four officers who won the Distinguished Service Order in the war have just assumed command of four sloops on the China Station—Commander G. B. Palmes, skipper of the "Foxglove"; Commander B. C. All four were very warmly commended in despatches for various acts of good seamanship and personal daring in action.

Pew, or old John Silver, would have read with grim delight the account of the recent piracy in Hong-kong waters, where the brigands took refuge in Gin Drinker's Bay. The Topicist does not know who gave this happy name to the locality, but possibly it was not so much blood-stained banditry that inspired it as recognition of the fact that something drastic was needed to wash out the flavour of the place, since it was the resort of the sanitary boats. It is doubtful if even Pew would have liked to make a cesspool his secret rendezvous, observes the "Topicist" in the Singapore Free Press.

(2). That the shares constituting the Company's unissued capital be issued at such time or times in such manner and upon such terms and for such purposes and upon such conditions in every respect as the Company's Board of Directors may decide.

Mr. J. Bell Irving presided and there were present Mr. G. M. Dodwell, Mr. W. S. Brown and Pere Robert (directors), Mr. A. Stevenson (manager), Mr. M. Manuk (secretary) and Messrs. C. Makeham, T. Oliphant, A. E. Carpell, H. W. Page, Chan Tong, Chan Nai Pan and Chan Lu Nam (shareholders).

The secretary having read the notice convening the meeting, the chairman said:—

Gentlemen,—Before submitting for your approval the resolution just read out, I should like to explain to you the reasons for asking you to authorize the increase of your Company's capital from $855,000 to $1,500,000, by the creation of 86,000 new shares of the paid up value of $7.50 each.

Your Directors were asked to consider the advisability of unifying your Company's interests with those of Lane Crawford Ltd. with a view to having our own retail shops on Lane Crawford's new premises and thus organising a better service to our customers.

The proposal was favourably considered and an agreement was entered into whereby this Company acquires 51,100 Lane Crawford shares, of which there are 100,000 of the face value of $10 each, in return for 46,000 of our new issue shares i.e. in the proportion of 9 Dairy Farm shares for 10 Lane Crawford shares. This proportion was recommended by an independent auditor appointed to go into the valuations of both Companies. Of the remaining 40,000 new issue shares, 38,000 will be issued to our present shareholders whose names appear on the Company's Register of Shareholders on February 28 in the proportion of 1 new share for every 3 complete old shares at a premium of $2.50 each, that is at $10 per share; the whole amount to be paid in one instalment by March 31, next by those residing in the Colony, and by May 31 next by shareholders residing out of the Colony. This will still leave 2,000 shares to be disposed of and these 2,000 shares your Directors have agreed to sell to the Managing Directors of Lane Crawford Ltd. at $10 each as a further consideration of the above exchange.

The new issue shares will rank for dividend with the old shares of the Company as from 1st March next. The amount accruing from the sale of the 40,000 new shares, viz $400,000, is to be utilised for installing new and up-to-date ice plants and cold stores at your East Point Works and for erecting new quarters on the premises for the Engineers and other members of the Company's staff. Your Directors are satisfied that these improvements are necessary inasmuch as the machinery now in use is old and out

"TRUTH, JUSTICE, PUBLIC SERVICE."
HONGKONG, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 15, 1922.

THE THOUSANDTH LEADER.

Yesterday's "leader" was the nine hundred and ninety-ninth of a consecutive series by the same hand. It is so conceived that this, the thousandth, marks a certain informality. It is felt that in order to contemplate the good they have done, some sort of moral microscope is needed. As for the quite possible mischief and harm wrought, let us shut our eyes to it, and refuse to think of it. What was to be, was. Not all our wit can now erase a line of it. But this also may be egocentric delusion and vanity. There are official "files" kept. If the Public Library, which is entitled to free copies has the 999 stacked up somewhere, it is impossible to imagine anyone likely to read them. For the most part we must regard the thousand theses, the thousand essays, the ten hundred cerebral typhoons, as a swarm of ephemeral, born for a brief life of hours. They were fallen leaves, numerous as those of Vallombrosa, and less useful. The savor of poetic emotions, the gourmet of sad sweet melancholies, may extract pathos from the thought of the snows of yesterday. What of the newspaper leader of the day before yesterday? Where are the nine hundred, the ninety and nine? Not let us with all seemingly haste admit, enshrined in the hearts of our countrymen. Not embroidered on banners of human memory that still lead spears into action. The utmost that may be claimed for them by parental prejudice is that they perhaps share with the diaries of last year the epitaph of martyrs, that they died for cause. But now of that necessary microscope a word. Not the most egregious autorial conceit would claim, nor any sane mind expect, that advice printed on a red dot on the long coat of China should have appreciable effects upon the behavior of world statesmen. We may as well, like the Skylark Eagle, have had our eye on the "Year of all the Russias" and have bid him beware, but no one imagined, we least of all, that the premiers and the presidents had an eye or an ear for us. If the squabblers of England and Ulster and Ireland still behave like pettish children, we are not to blame. If the French and the German have not yet drawn the moral from recent grave events that we drew, it is not our fault. If we are our brother's keeper in one sense, it is different when our brother's conscience is functioning (or not functioning) outside our sphere of influence, so far from our little orbit that our dim light cannot reach him. As regards local politics, the round table of the thousand does not apply, unless indirectly. Those who care to count are welcome to the task. The fact remains that we have not leveled the local lamp with sweet reason and light. The strike proves it. Here, in sight of a settlement, we see peace blocked by a quibble about a name. With a slight change of name, the Strikers are told, they may revive their Union. To the peacemakers of the Tung Wah committee they give their reasons for objecting to a slight change of name. Perhaps now the Government will oblige us with their reasons for demanding the slight change of name? If not, no great matter. The thousandth brainstorm will have fluttered idly down upon the litter of the previous nine hundred and ninety-nine, and the procession of the equinoxes is in no wise interrupted.

"Shackles"

In our correspondence columns today "Australian" takes issue with the China Mail writer who by way of emphasizing that an Australian doesn't like to have his country called "the big colony" observed that "you may if you like tell an Australian with impunity that his forebears all wore shackles." "Australian" says he knows of one husky digger who wouldn't take it kindly and recalls the historic four pas made by Lord Beauchamp in expressing gratitude for Governor Macquarie's action in destroying the archives of the penal settlements, thereby "removing Australia's birthstain." In Lord Beauchamp's day the penal settlement question still rankled but the present generation of Australians knows of it only as a fantastic joke against themselves which they rather enjoy. For instance an Australian can hear out the allegation that all Sydneyiders walk with a foreshortened step (due to the hereditary influence of the shackles) with the same relish that a Scot listens to the canards perpetrated against his countrymen. "Australian" we feel sure, will acquit us of any intention to disparage the Australian character when we mention that the writer of the offending paragraph was himself one of the "ten per cent." and may even indeed have been the identical young man seen wearing the R. S. L. badge.

Too Much in a Name.

In the course of one of those little speeches that delight the reporters, if any speeches, however facile and polished, ever delight those soured unfortunates. Mr. Stephens, our popular bank manager, speaking at the opening of the new Shamen branch of his great financial institution, observed that when next the bank's statutes are revised the name shall be enlarged to include "Canton," as an honour to that ancient city. However laudable the intention, the action would be most reactionary from the newspaper standpoint anyway—and newspaper readers, every journalist flatters himself, are the people who matter. Long names like the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation and the Hongkong, Canton, and Macao Steamship Company (an attempt to mention the last on the poster is the cause of this protest against unwieldy names) cause enough worry without the evil-for-it really is an evil—being further aggravated. One can forgive O'Henry characters their fondness for many word business names, they give us so much pleasure in compensation, but one finds it difficult to condone the offence when this bribe is lacking. Why not simply Anna's Friend Society or Women's League? Why not, indeed.

What Boots It To Repeat?

Time, 'tis said, faster flies in the East than it does at Home. Wise ones are ready with reasons—new scenes, strange faces, more work, these and many others do they advance. If it slip away faster or slower they forget Austin Dobson's sad words.
Time goes, you say? Ah, no!
Ah, 'tis time stays, we go.
Next to life and love, few things have fascinated the poet more than time, the formless, denizen, the healing angel, the remorseless enemy. From Chaucer's "Time y-jest may not be recovered" to Benjamin Franklin's "Don't thou love life? Then do not squander time for that is the stuff life is made of," our sages have vainly sought to check the folly of the time spendthrift. The melancholy inspired by time's remorseless conquest has been voiced by a hundred poets, by Blake in the lines

Even Such is Time, that takes on trust
Our youth, our joys, our all we have,

And pays us but with age and dust
Written the night before his untimely death, and by Longfellow in his Psalm of Life,

Art is long and time is fleeting,
And our hearts though stout and brave,
Still, like muffled drums, are beating
Funeral marches to the grave.

But fast or slow as it may seem to go, the resident in the East should remember Emerson's poor Indian chief, wiser than any philosopher, who observed to someone complaining that he had not enough time, "I suppose you have all there is."

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

One fatal case of plague, Chinese, and a non-fatal case of paratyphoid fever British, were reported yesterday.

Thousands of gallons of ice cream in special containers, holding about 500 gallons, are being shipped every month from Vancouver to China.

A year ago to-day Scotland defeated England 4-2 in the international golf foursomes at Farnley. The singles resulted in a draw 6-6.

The annual ball of H. M. Dockyard Recreation Club is advertised to take place in the City Hall on February 24th. The band from H. M. S. "Hawkins" will attend.

A Chinese accountant at the Shanghai Mint has been arrested by the Police, just as he was about to leave Shanghai with $70,000 that he is alleged to have obtained by a series of extensive forgeries of cheques on local Chinese banks.

"Dawn," J. Stuart Blackton's film version of the novel by Eleanor H. Porter, comes to the Kowloon Theatre this evening. Sylvia Breamer and Robert Gordon head a capable cast. A wholesome story, "Dawn" makes a charming picture in the simplicity and directness of its appeal.

The proprietor of the Mercury Motor Garage was charged before Magistrate Lindsell this morning with having stored 16 gallons of gasoline in a place other than the well. Sergeant Stimson said that he visited the garage at 3.30 on the afternoon of January 3. In the back yard he found four 4 gallon drums of gasoline placed on top of the well, temporarily, according to the defendant. The Magistrate imposed a fine of $25.

Arrested at the Yau-mai railway station yesterday morning with 90 taels of illicit raw opium in his possession, a Chinese charged before Magistrate Wood this morning was fined $1,000, or six months' hard labour. Sergeant Dorling said that about 9.30 yesterday morning he and some fokis went to the railway station to search Chinese passengers' luggage in connection with the armed robbery in a pawnshop. The opium was found in a basket the defendant was carrying.

Recently the Peak Hotel people were given permission to use bath water for lavatory flushing. Yesterday a similar application came before the Sanitary Board in respect of premises at No. 5 Broadwood. In moving that permission should be refused the Chairman (Mr. G. R. Sayer) expressed the view that it would be unwise to extend the principle of employing bath water for use in water closets to private houses. He felt that in a private house they had no assurance at all that the amount of water used for bath would normally be sufficient to keep the water closets properly flushed. It was decided to refuse the application.

Having impersonated a constable, and having stolen a jacket from another Chinese were charges preferred against a Chinese before Magistrate Wood this morning. According to the present on the defendant accused the complainant of having stolen a jacket, he took the one he was wearing. The complainant followed the defendant, and when they passed the No. 7 Police Station, said to him "Here is a police station. If you are a constable, why don't you take me inside?" The defendant said he would give him a chance and returned the jacket. A constable overheard this and arrested the defendant. Averting that the complainant had stolen several jackets from him, the defendant said that when the complainant challenged him to give him his charge, he hesitated because he was not sure that the jacket in question was the one he had lost. He denied that he had impersonated himself as a constable. Disparaging him on this count, the Magistrate concluded his case by awarding sentence of four months' hard labour.

CORRESPONDENCE.

"HANDSHAKING."

[To the Editor of the "China Mail."]

Dear Sir,—With reference to your Editorial of the 10th inst., regarding any historical facts why do we shake hands, I beg to apprise you of the following:—

In ancient times when men were always prepared to fight, everyone went armed, the sword was then the great weapon of defence. When two men approached each other, each had to decide whether the other was a friend or foe. If a man wanted to show that he was on a peaceful mission he put out his right hand to show that he carried no sword or dagger in it. If the other man was willing to meet the first he likewise showed his right hand to be empty. When they met, each would grasp the other's right hand so that neither could change his mind and assume a fighting attitude without equal warning.

If any of your readers or Adversaries could comment further on this subject it will greatly interest the undersigned.

—Yours faithfully,

O. F. RIBEIRO.

"BIG COLONY."

[To the Editor of the "China Mail."]

Sir,—In your issue of yesterday you say "If you like you may tell an Australian with impunity that his forebears all wore shackles." If any of your readers acting on that assumption should ever be tempted to do so I would advise him to act with discretion and pick his mark. If he were to tell some husky digger such as one that I have in mind 6 feet 4 inches in height, about 15 stone in weight, a champion footballer, boxer and rower, that his forebears wore shackles I am afraid that the incautious one would be a fit inmate for a hospital afterwards. A greater insult could not be given to an Australian. Many years ago now a silly ass of a Governor newly appointed thought he could with impunity refer to Australia's birthstains. That Governor's term expired in about twelve months but his name is not forgotten.

Whatever their forebears may have been, it is to Australia's everlasting glory that 10 per cent of her population volunteered. More volunteered about 10 per cent were accepted, for service during the late war. Most of them visited Great Britain and she remains to them affectionately "The Old Country." Nearly all of them belong to "The Returned Soldiers Imperial Guild" (I saw a young fellow wearing the badge in Hongkong the other day.) It is certain the Imperial tie will remain firmly fixed for another generation. Personally I think that to-day Australians are more British and have more sentiment regarding the Union Jack than those borne in Great Britain but they are extremely sensitive, independent and quick to resent any affront.—Yours, etc.

PEAK RESIDENT'S PROTEST.

[To the Editor of the "China Mail."]

Dear Sir,—I am and have been for many years what is called a Peak Resident, and have received a letter from Mr. Green of the Forestry Department in which he states that he has been instructed by His Excellency the Governor to request all residents at the Peak to assist in the protection of the plants and flowering shrubs growing there.

Before coming to Hongkong I lived in a beautiful country district, the property of a great land-owning noble where trees and bridges were treated with the respect they deserve, and I have always myself done all I could to protect the beauty of the Peak. But I wonder if His Excellency can possibly be aware of the reckless destruction of bamboos and other trees which has been now going on for some months in connection with the new road, alongside of the Chamberlain Road, where only this morning I stopped women cutting down clumps of beautiful bamboos which I am absolutely certain cannot be affected by the road—a road which by the by I have heard for it can only interest "joy-riding" dwellers in the lower levels.

I venture most respectfully to suggest that if His Excellency is not personally aware of the horrible destruction of the beauty of the Peak which is now going on he should visit and do what he can to save what is left.—Yours faithfully,

Old Peak Resident.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE.

DISCUSSIONS GOING ON.

A DOCKYARD RUMOUR.

The chances of a settlement of the seamen's strike being arrived at are still revolving around the relatively small issue of the re-opening of the Seamen's Union under its old name. High hopes are held that the strikers will modify their demand on this point and so remove the only barrier now standing in the way of a resumption of negotiations upon the matters actually in dispute between the men and their employers.

The position was discussed yesterday afternoon at a meeting arranged between the four seamen's delegates and representatives of the Hongkong General and Chinese Chambers of Commerce. The chairman of the Tung Wah Hospital was there as well. There was apparently no definite outcome of the conference although the seamen's delegates are said to have been won over to a realisation of the Government's difficulty in the matter. They pointed out, however, that while they personally might appreciate the position they could not guarantee that the men at Canton would see it in the same light.

Another meeting at which the seamen's delegates were present was held at the Tung Wah Hospital this morning and the delegates were to meet the Secretary for Chinese Affairs (the Hon. E. R. Hallifax) during the afternoon. In town to-day there was an optimistic feeling abroad and it was felt that the outstanding difficulties had now been so far reduced that the resumption of negotiations could not be very far off.

The dock workers get their pay to-day and it was freely rumoured this morning that they were likely to give notice either to-day or to-morrow. Inquiries however failed to elicit any confirmation of it. There were 162 ships in port and the tonnage represented was 254,996.

FATSHAN MARKETS AFFECTED.

According to to-day's Canton Times a report from Fatshan states that the market in Fatshan has been greatly affected by the recent strike of seamen. Owing to the exhausting of cotton yarn supplies, the textile business in the city is practically tied up. Many silk factories who expected to do a great deal of business during the beginning of the year, have met with unexpected bad luck as only a few orders have recently been received from silk firms abroad as the result of uncertainty of shipping condition created by the strike. Many other businesses are also at a standstill as the result of the slump of these two important industries in the city. It is also reported that rice and other daily necessities have greatly advanced in prices recently.

OPIUM DEALERS BENEFIT.

The North China Daily News points out that "One result of the Hongkong strike has been the swelling of the profits of opium dealers. Since several ships have been obliged to pass Hongkong 'en route' for Shanghai during the past fortnight, the traffickers have benefited, states the Chinese press, to the extent of $100,000 to $200,000. A ball of Indian opium worth $360 before the strike has now risen to $500, and the price is expected if the strike lasts another week to reach $700."

BLASTING OPERATIONS.

BUILDING CONTRACTOR SUMMONED.

Mr. Lam Woo, the building contractor, was summoned before Magistrate Lindsell this morning for having carried out some blasting operations in Station Lane, Hunghom, after the regulation hours yesterday afternoon. The defendant's excuse was that he could not do the blasting earlier because the lane was used by large numbers of the Kowloon Dock workmen during the day, and he had been advised by both the manager of the Dock Company and his architect, for the safety of the workmen, not to do any blasting during working hours.

Inspector Aris said that the defendant had a special permit issued by the P.W.D. to carry on blasting operations after regulation hours. The permit did not apply to other blasting work outside.

The Magistrate said that as far as he could see, no special permit could be issued by the P.W.D. under the Ordinance. The Ordinance was a strict one, and no dispensation could be granted unless a special notification was issued to that effect.

The Inspector said that as far as he knew, no such notification existed. The case was remanded for a week in order that the Inspector might go further into the matter.

LOYAL ULSTER ANGRY.

REFUSING TO HONOUR TOAST OF THE KING.

A Home paper says:—If Sinn Fein had any doubts as to the magnitude of its victory the consternation created in the Six Counties ought to remove them. Ulster has been out-maneuvred all along the line, and so skillfully has the movement been executed that even Sir James Craig can point to no real grievance. It is not, perhaps, true to say, in the word of a Dublin ballad, "one touch on Ulster's pocket awakened her immortal soul," but the fact that the North, while it loses nothing by holding aloof from the Irish Free State, stands to gain enormously by coming in has caused a violent upheaval of opinion in Belfast. Characteristically enough, this upheaval takes the form of a bitter anti-English crusade. The National Anthem is banned, and it is a public dinner this week, attended by members of the Northern Government, nine-tenths of the guests refused to rise for the toast of "The King." Even the Morning Post is constrained to rebuke its former heroes, and it looks as if the illusion of Ulster loyalty would at last be revealed in its true light. This will be no loss to England, but it may well mean a positive gain of incalculable value to Ireland if Sinn Fein plays its cards properly. Under the new constitution it is possible to exercise pressure which will compel Ulster to surrender at discretion. And if Sinn Fein has the insight to refrain from applying pressure, and by a removal of the boycott to demonstrate that a new era has really begun, those who know Ulster best are satisfied that not many months are destined to elapse before a friendly pact between North and South will set the seal of finality upon the Irish Settlement.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

An extraordinary general meeting of the Humphreys Estate and Finance Co., Ltd., is advertised for March 3.

Among the passengers who sailed for Home by the P. & O. s.s. "Nagoya" this morning were Sub-Inspectors J. Moss, Spear, and Perkins. Dr. W. B. A. Moore was a passenger for Singapore by the same steamer.

The Hon. Mr. H. E. Pollock, K.C., informed a China Mail reporter this afternoon that the Constitutional Reform Association's petition to Parliament, with 1,500 signatures attached has been forwarded Home.

The loss suffered by the Yau-mai pawnshop which was attacked by armed robbers on Monday night, is estimated at $30,000 in jewellery. Although all wharves and railway station were watched, no arrests have been effected.

In the presence of a large gathering of members, representative of all the Allied nations, Sir Everard Fraser, K.C.M.G., H. M. Consul-General at Shanghai unveiled the handsome memorial tablet which has been erected in the Shanghai Club to the memory of members who fell in the Great War. The memorial, which occupies the centre bay of the south wall of the main hall, presents in a subdued manner a certain richness of colour and delicacy of detail. The main panel, on which the names of the members who were killed in the Great War have been incised, is of white Carrara marble set in a bronze surround. The following are names inscribed on the Roll of Honour:—S. G. Berry, L. Bourgeois, J. A. Brand, A. C. Brooke Webb, B. D. Bruce, W. J. C. Budd, C. Busby, A. Cohen, C. C. F. Cunningham, A. F. Deane, F. Defries, W. H. Dent, P. E. Delaunay, J. C. B. Douglas, R. Freytag, R. Lehane, K. Hardman, S. Henman, L. E. P. Jones, C. G. Kirk, P. Lamb, B. S. Laurence, W. J. H. Lee, T. M. MacQueen, H. McGhee, H. S. Oppé, G. Picard Destelan, H. Picard Destelan, G. Rabier, T. C. Read, W. E. Reiss, F. Richardson, G. U. Robins, G. G. Samuel, S. R. Sebastian, E. J. S. Tanner, R. T. de la Tour.

TO SECRETARIES OF CLUBS AND OTHER INSTITUTIONS.

ALL preliminary notices of forthcoming meetings, lectures and entertainments, sent for insertion in the news columns of the China Mail, are charged for at the rate of $1 each (as announced in May and June of last year) providing that they do not occupy more than four lines. In future, if this space is exceeded they will be placed in the advertising columns at the prevailing rates.

THE RACES.

SHANGHAI'S KEEN INTEREST.

During the next few days observed in the Shanghai Mercury last week, we shall have an exodus of our prominent racing men, owners and jockeys, for the Crown Colony, for it may be assumed that arrangements have been made when by the annual meeting at Hongkong will not suffer by reason of their absence on account of the shipping strike. The British Colony down south is not quite so keen on the racing game as is Shanghai or, at least, the residents are not quite so keen on the betting side of the sport. They, of course, give pride of place to none in their love of the sport itself. And, in Hongkong, they race under ideal conditions, for the Happy Valley course, nestled in its glorious surrounding of beautiful hills, is easily the prettiest in the Far East and one of the prettiest in the world. Shanghai owners and jockeys, however, are usually very much to the fore when it comes to the division of the honours, though this year they may not be quite so successful as usual, for, the strike will not deter owners and jockeys going south, it will undoubtedly militate against the sending of the usual quota of ponies. The meeting takes place at the end of this month and we wish the Shanghai contingent the best of trips and a fair share of the spoils; also, a safe return for the popular Paper Hunt Club events which are booked for the 4th proximo.

SHANGHAI TIPS.

Mr. Frank Veda will ride for Sir Paul Chater. The China Press says: Sir Paul, who has his stable here, has entered H. J. Dahlia, Homesty Dahlia, Empire Dahlia, Sportsman Dahlia and several griffins for the meet. Empire Dahlia is said to have a good chance to place first or second in the Champions. Mr. C. R. Burkill will also ride for Sir Paul.

Mr. Billy Hill will ride for the Potts and Haym stable. Mr. Potts is already at Hongkong with Fighting King, Mighty King and two unnamed griffins, and Mr. Haym plans to sail within a few days. Fighting King was second in the Champions at Hongkong last year and is expected to win the Regatta this year. Mighty King is also picked as a possible Champions winner.

Mr. Hill, Mr. Burkill, Mr. Jack Bauld and Mr. Knoll will sail next Wednesday, according to present plans. Mr. Knoll has entered Ajax and Sir Colin and will ride both ponies. Some Shanghai race followers give Ajax a chance to cop the Champions. Mr. Bauld will ride for the Sassoon stables.

Mr. M. O. Springfield is already at Hongkong with the Stephen and Scott stable. With the exception of H. J. all the ponies are griffins getting their first taste of racing in the Hongkong meet. The two stable of griffins will also get their first try out in the coming meet.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

SIR HENRY MAY'S DEATH.

The Legislative Council meets tomorrow afternoon. The Hon. Colonial Secretary will table the following documents:—

Financial minutes, Report of the Finance Committee, Amendment of the Importation and Inspection of Animals By-laws, Amendment of the Maintenance of Order in Depots By-laws, Amendment of the Maintenance of Order in Slaughter-houses By-laws, Amendment of the Domestic Cleanliness and Ventilation By-laws.

H. E. the Governor will move the following resolution:—

The Legislative Council of Hongkong have received with profound regret the news of the death of Sir Henry May, G.C.M.G., LL.D., formerly Governor of Hongkong and for many years a member of the Council. In expressing the deep sympathy with Lady May and her daughters in their bereavement, the members of the Council desire to place on record their sense of the very valuable services rendered to Hongkong by Sir Henry May during his long and distinguished career in the Colony.

The Hon. Mr. A. O. Lang will submit the following questions:—

Will the Government state:—

(1) What, if any, use is to be made of the building, now under erection, on "the Finest Site" after the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales?

(2) What, if any, precautions are being taken to cope with an outbreak of fire during the erection of such building?

(3) Whether the risk of fire, and that of damage by typhoon, has been covered by insurance?

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

The Hon. Attorney General will move the following:

First reading of a bill to provide for police supervision of certain persons.

First reading of a bill to amend further the Opium Ordinance, 1914.

Second reading of the bill to amend further the Volunteer Ordinance, 1920.

Second reading of the bill to modify certain provisions of the Treaty of Peace (Austria) Order, 1920, the Treaty of Peace (Bulgaria) Order, 1920, and the Treaty of Peace (Hungary) Order, 1921, as amended, for the purpose of adapting the provisions of the said Orders to the circumstances of the Colony of Hongkong.

Second reading of the bill to amend the Maintenance Orders (Facilities for Enforcement) Ordinance, 1921.

The second reading of the bill to restrict the taking of legal proceedings in respect of certain acts and matters done during the war and to provide in cases remedies in substitution therefor, and the second reading of the Bill to amend the Crown Lands Resumption Ordinance, 1921, will not be proceeded with at this meeting.

VACCINATION CAMPAIGN.

SANITARY BOARD'S THANKS.

At yesterday's meeting of the Sanitary Board the Chairman (Mr. G. H. Sayer) thanked those who helped to make the recent vaccination campaign a success.

Mr. Sayer said: Members will have had in their hands a report by Dr. Woodman on the vaccination campaign and will be able to judge for themselves the extent to which we were indebted to voluntary help for the success of the campaign. I think it is sufficient to say that, in 20 days, Dr. Woodman and his staff vaccinated approximately one-fourth of the entire population of the City of Victoria and of Kowloon Peninsula. That seems to me to be extremely successful.

It is now my duty to express our obligation to those who gave us voluntary help. I would like to thank all the Chinese Provident Dispensaries. They are available, of course, throughout the year to vaccinate Chinese but our campaign has thrown an exceptional amount of work on their hands. I find that something like 8,000 people were vaccinated by Chinese Provident Dispensaries during those 20 days. I should like, also, to thank the St. John's Ambulance Division. The two Brigades of that Division—the Chinese Y.M.C.A. and the Saiyungpun Brigade, opened special stations and between them vaccinated 16,000. We are obliged to them not only for the number that they vaccinated, but for helping us generally by their support. I would like to thank the Kailong of the Western District and particularly two gentlemen, Mr. Chan Chuan-pun and Mr. Chan Yung, who accompanied our vaccinators during the entire campaign, from its start in the West to its completion in the East. They performed a large number of vaccinations themselves. We are extremely obliged to these gentlemen and I propose to move that the Board write them a letter of thanks.

Last, but not least, I wish to thank Mr. Tso, in particular. Mr. Tso established his reputation in 1916 and we knew that if we could persuade him to assist us again on this occasion success was assured. Mr. Tso accepted the obligation at once, and within 24 hours of doing so he produced a little pamphlet showing in a most concise and interesting way, the arguments in favour of vaccination. Then he proceeded to do something which was the very thing, above all others, to ensure success; he accompanied our vaccinators every day throughout the campaign and set the seal of enlightenment upon it. I had not the pleasure of seeing Mr. Tso and Dr. Woodman together in the streets but I can well imagine that Dr. Woodman with a tube of lymph and Mr. Tso with a large number of his own tracts were absolutely irresistible.

It was unanimously decided, on the Chairman's motion, that a special letter of thanks should be sent.

"MALE AND FEMALE"

BARRIE FILM'S STRONG CAST.

Sir James Barrie, who has just been awarded the Order of Merit in recognition of his great services to the stage, is the most diffident of men and the most impudent of artists. This charming reserve and delightful audacity find full play in the "Admirable Crichton," the film version of which is now appearing at the Coronet Theatre in "Male and Female," a finished Artercraft production with an unusually strong cast. Famous as the leading player in "The Miracle Man," Thomas Meighan fills the onerous rôle of Crichton, the butler in the family of an English nobleman and the king in the dream of ancient Babylon. Gloria Swanson plays the Lady Mary who almost marries Crichton the admiral on the desert island following wreck of her father's yacht and the Christian slave in the wonderful dream scene. Bebe Daniels, and Wesley Barrie act important rôles and the other players are equally capable.
